

OK NARO Endowed Scholarship In Geology

Oklahoma-NARO is a proud supporter of the future leaders in the oil and gas industry. Thus, we are interested in encouraging the best and brightest to consider a business career focused on the uniquely U.S. opportunity to become decision makers inside the oil and gas industry with career goals centered around development and production of our country's natural resources.

The Oklahoma State University Geology program is designed to prepare students for graduate school and careers in industry, federal and state agencies. We offer suggested courses for select sub-disciplines in Geology to better serve our students' interests.

The scholarship will provide financial assistance to a qualified undergraduate student majoring in geology. A representative of The National Association of Royalty Owners, Oklahoma Chapter will participate in the selection of scholarship recipients.
